WHY ONLINE TRAINING?

- Cost effective - Educators who work in smaller schools or organizations often have limited resources to access face-to-face professional development.
- Accessible - Many educators live in regions where professional development is not readily accessible, such as rural areas, large urban centers, or international locations. This course can be completed anywhere, anytime.
- Self-paced - Participants will be able to work at their own pace. Participants may complete it in a day or stretch it out to fit their schedule.
- Supportive - Distance learning provides support to teachers who are the only sex educator in their organization, those who prefer learning in a one-to-one setting, and those who can't get release time to attend workshops.
- Community-building - Many schools and agencies are concerned about controversy related to sex education. This course will show how to build family engagement and community support.

Upon course completion, participants will:

- Summarize the content, strategies, and organization of Puberty: The Wonder Years for grades 4, 5, and/or 6.
- Practice the skills needed to teach sex education.
- Describe the laws and boundaries that impact teaching sex education.
- Create a plan to strengthen parent and family involvement.
- Receive a certificate of completion they can use to apply for CEUs.
