

Frequently Asked Questions

About Puberty: The Wonder Years

- Q: How is Puberty: The Wonder Years, 2021 edition different from the previous versions?
- A: Teachers asked, and we listened. The revised curriculum includes many features requested by educators, including current topics, digital tools for teaching virtually or in-person, and more supports for teachers and parents. For a detailed comparison, read "What is new in the 2021 edition of Puberty: The Wonder Years."
- Q: How is Puberty: The Wonder Years different than other puberty curricula?
- A: Puberty: The Wonder Years is unique among puberty curricula for grades 4, 5, and 6 because it:
 - Provides developmentally appropriate, comprehensive, and sequential lessons: Over the course of three years, it lays a solid foundation of knowledge and skills so that students are prepared for the evidence-based programs that are available in middle and high school.
 - Develops student skills: It goes beyond merely teaching the reproductive anatomy and physiology to include skill development that equips students to behave in healthy ways.
 - Engages families: Parents and other family members are involved in the learning through homework assignments and Family Partnership Flyers that encourage home discussions. Family resources are available in English and Spanish.
- Q: What topics are included in each grade level?
- A: The synopsis of Puberty: The Wonder Years 2021 edition describes the topics addressed at each grade.
- Q: Is Puberty: The Wonder Years, 2021 edition a digital curriculum?
- A: Yes. The curriculum guide and the Online Teacher Resources are all digital. They include lessons, student worksheets, family engagement resources, slides, and more.

- Q: Is Puberty: The Wonder Years evidenced-based? Has it been evaluated?
- A: Puberty: The Wonder Years is evidenced-informed and research-based, but it has not yet had the benefit of the type of evaluation needed to prove it is evidence-based. However, two types of evaluations have been conducted to date:
 - Student pre- and post-survey results have demonstrated significant improvements in student knowledge, attitudes, and skills. Students are also significantly more likely to have talked with their parents or other trusted adults as a result of their participation in the lessons compared to prior to the lessons.
 - Teacher survey results indicated that the vast majority of observing classroom teachers agreed or strongly agreed with these statements regarding Puberty: The Wonder Years:
 - Lessons were age appropriate (89%)
 - Content was necessary for this age group (93%)
 - Students learned about puberty (93%)
 - Students benefitted from the lessons (86%)
