

Hybrid Training for Teachers

This professional development option prepares educators to implement Puberty: The Wonder Years by engaging them in activities that familiarize participants with the curriculum and increase their personal comfort and skills needed to teach puberty education. The facilitator works with the host site to provide publicity materials, training preparation, communications before and after training, evaluation results, and other supports to ensure success.

By the end of the training, each participant will be able to:

- Summarize the content, strategies, and organization of Puberty: The Wonder Years.
- Access the digital curriculum and teaching resources.
- Practice setting ground rules, answering student questions, and using strategies for inclusivity.
- Describe the laws and boundaries that impact teaching puberty education.
- Create a plan to strengthen parent/family engagement.

Training Details

The hybrid training includes two parts:
